

Human Values - Lesson 3

We have been learning about Human Values and its importance in our day to day life in the last couple of classes. How many of you remember the five basic human values? Those are Truth, Love, Peace, Right Action, and Non-Violence.

Today's lesson is on -

Human Value: Peace

Sub Value: Concentration

Objective: One's mind is under one's own control, and great goals can then be achieved through it

Objective: "A searchlight makes it possible for us to see even the objects lying in distant dark corners. A concentrated mind is a searchlight to find and achieve the goals of life" – Swami Vivekananda

Peace is the state of being quiet, calm and free of emotional disturbance. Peace is not idleness but a sound and balanced mental state which learns to find rest in action and which utilizes all the inherent vital energies to create a perfect harmony in action. This could be achieved through focus and concentration.

Story 1 – The Power of Concentration

Once there lived in a village a poor man named Kushalchand. Though poor he was happy and satisfied with what he had. He was wise, calm and always peaceful. This was because he used to meditate for long hours.

Kushalchand used to work hard in the mornings and in the evenings he used to sit under a huge banyan tree and meditate for hours. This used to give him peace of mind and lots of happiness. One evening, the Prince of the land happened to pass through the village. All the villagers went to pay their respects to him except for Kushalchand, who was lost in meditation. When the prince happened to pass by the banyan tree he saw Kushalchand sitting under it with his eyes closed. The prince was very upset to see that Kushalchand had not come to pay his respects and ordered his guards to arrest Kushalchand and have him brought before the king.

Kushalchand was brought to the court before the king and was demanded an explanation for his behavior. Kushalchand was calm and unperturbed. He politely explained that when the Prince had visited the village he was in meditation and was concentrating on the 'Rama nama'. He further explained that whenever he concentrates on the Lord's name he forgets everything and even becomes unaware of the heat, cold, sun, wind, rains, etc.

The King, Prince and all the courtiers found it hard to believe Kushalchand. The King however felt that Kushalchand should be given a chance to prove his innocence and so he decided to give Kushalchand a tough test. He ordered Kushalchand to stand in a tank of water for one whole night. It was winter and the water was very cold. The tank was to be guarded from all the sides. The guards who stood near the tank were shivering with cold. However Kushalchand stood in the tank the whole night and came out very happy the next morning.

Now the King and the Prince were convinced of his meditative powers. They asked him respectfully as to how he had accomplished this task. Kushalchand humbly replied that, when he stood in the cold water he could see at a distance a lamp which was lit at a far away temple. He concentrated on the lamp and brought the light of the lamp to his heart and through out the night felt its warmth inside him, never feeling the cold outside.

The King and the prince now realized the importance and the powers of concentration. They happily rewarded and honored Kushalchand before he returned to his village.

Story 2 - Your mind should be only on the target

Once when Swami Vivekananda was in Chicago, he saw some young children trying to shoot eggshells. He noticed that the children missed the target nine times out of ten. When the children noticed that a Swami was watching them keenly, they were embarrassed. Thinking that they could regain their lost pride, they mockingly asked Swami if he could do better

Swami Vivekananda smiled and replied in the affirmative. He took the toy gun from the children and shot twelve times hitting an eggshell each time. The children were amazed and when they came to know that Swami Vivekananda had not even handled a gun before, they earnestly asked him how he could be so good at it.

Swami told the children the secret of his success. "Children, whatever you do, concentrate wholly on it. Think of nothing else. Your aim will not fail if your mind is fully on the target or on the goal. Concentration works wonders. When you sit for your study you must concentrate only on that and nothing else. This will ensure success in whatever you undertake."

Power of concentration is the secret of success of many great scientists and men of achievements.

Questions:

- What was Kusalchand's nature?
- What was he doing when the Prince passed by?
- How could Kusalchand achieve the difficult task given to him?
- What should you do to increase your concentration power?
- What benefit do you get from the concentration?
- Is concentration the key to success? If yes why?

Universal Prayer

Loka Samasta Sukhino Bhavantu
Loka Samasta Sukhino Bhavantu
Loka Samasta Sukhino Bhavantu
om Shanti Shanti Shanti

Meaning:

May the Lord bless the whole world with eternal peace and goodwill
May the Lord bless the whole world with eternal peace and goodwill
May the Lord bless the whole world with eternal peace and goodwill
Peace peace peace
